LANGUAGE LABS

The equipment of the language laboratories will provide:

- Learning the language by the basic aspects - listening, pronunciation and working with written text;
- The possibility of individual and group work;
- Ability to work with multimedia learning material;
- Ability to conduct voice exercises.

A modern language laboratory offers great opportunities for the teacher, significantly increasing classroom performance and allowing you to work individually with each student.

We offer three solutions:

1. Traditional hardware and software solutions that include specially designed software, audio panels, and headsets.

2. Fully software complexes, installed on the teacher's and student's computer, which have a modular structure that allows equipping language laboratories with an exam application, as well as a module for viewing streaming video.

3. Special solution for distance learning.

Language systems are easy to install and operate and require minimal equipment (software / audio panels, headsets), and the ability to create language laboratories on the basis of existing computer classrooms makes them an extremely profitable solution.
